FREEDOM OF EXPRESSION When I started working as a photojournalist, a freelancer, and a travel writer, my father urged me to not let anyone keep my work from me. He knew that this is what he wanted. Back then I could not figure out how to use my camera and develop an online presence and I could not trust anyone. After the birth of my son, I wanted to do more for him than I could, as he was such a critical factor in my life, and I found that he needed his own name, online presence, and identity. I wanted to do this because I could not imagine what would happen to him if I died before he was 25. I had learned to trust people. I trusted the good people to help me, and the bad people to keep me from them. I didn't trust the internet and certainly not myself. As a photographer, I wanted to change that. I wanted to ensure that no one would keep my work from me. But if you're looking for a classic camera for travel, I suggest one of the best-value cameras on the market, the Kodak Zx3. Category:Image organizersQuick Ramble by Kurt Warner and Shane Falco The Cardinals selected Tyler Gaffney with the 58th pick in the NFL Draft, he was from Auburn. The talk of the day is Gaffney was ranked the #3 WR in the country. Yes, really. He is a former HS QB who played QB in college, but he is listed as a WR on the cardinals website. He does not look like a QB. He is 5'9, 175 lbs and has little to no arm talent. He is about as pass happy as a pass happy QB. Gaffney had 22 TDs in 5 games last year and it will be interesting to see how he will play with Palmer. Sets up for another man, Frank Gore. Gore has 5 1,100 career rushing yards. He has over 2,000 career yards, averages 4.3 YPC and is 27 years old. Gore should be a weapon for the Bengals and I think he will be the best back off the bench. The Chiefs are more interested in Alex Smith than they are in a new WR, so they traded #6 for #13. Jeremy Maclin is from the Eagles and is a 6'2", 215 pound WR. He is young, but we all know the Chiefs do not draft for the future. Maclin brings a lot of youth and is a playmaker. The Chiefs have struggled to find WRs. They must have an interest in him. J.J. Arrington is a 6'3", 235 lb WR out of UCLA. He was a very productive WR in college with 34 TDs in 3 seasons, averaging an astounding 37 YPD. Arrington is big, but he is also a polished route runner and pretty good at blocking. Arrington is a good pick for the 49ers. Philadelphia gets an offensive lineman in the 5th round. The 6'5, 260 lb OT Andy Thomas is a very raw prospect but he has the physical skills to come along. The Eagles did not sign OT Winston Justice to a multi-
