That's if that's something that you want. 813. 731. The vast majority of players go for two or three runs, but ultimately my records show that I get good results after five. You can also hit a small percentage after four runs. I generally play these with the following strategy: 1) I start the game by building my cybernetic body. 2) Then I focus on getting the nuclear reactor to the Moon or to one of the other planets. 3) After that, I build more defenses. 4) As soon as I feel that I've had enough money, I start building more units and defenses. And that's it. The game can be very frustrating at times, but I'm pretty good at it. I don't go back to normal as soon as I have a score of 5 or 10. I usually wait until I score 100 or more points. Synthetic scaffolds with covalently attached bioactive polymers can be a powerful means for therapeutic delivery of compounds. A practical method to synthesize such compounds that is compatible with multichromophore and multilayer coating methods is highly desirable. We have synthesized three types of water-soluble phosphorescent polymers. These materials contain covalently bound phosphonate groups that were attached via an ester linkage to the polymer backbone. The monomers for each type of polymer were chosen from a range of commercially available materials that are compatible with the polymer coating steps used in multilayer and
