Gangstar Apothecary There will be a lot of epic fighting and the whole thing could have a Tarzan-inspired climax. It's based on Bram Stoker's novel Dracula and it was directed by Uwe Boll, director of House Of The Dead. The film is a shot-for-shot remake of George A. Romero's classic Night Of The Living Dead, a cautionary tale about the nightmarish world of the undead. The film stars Martin Campbell as Van Helsing, Scott Adkins as the titular hero, and Amanda Seyfried as a female Van Helsing who looks a lot like Sam Worthington's character in Clash Of The Titans, and which suggests that there is a weird world in which everything has happened as it did in the book. US experts have long been concerned about the potential military effects of China's deployment of a new heavy-duty guided missile system, known as DF-21D, under development by the Chengdu Aerospace Science and Technology Corporation (CASC). A new report by the Center for Strategic and International Studies describes the DF-21D as a "medium-range, solid-fuel, medium-altitude, high-precision, GPS-guided surface-to-air missile system with strike capability." The system is "relatively mature" and "there is no evidence" that it will be used against US military aircraft. Although the system has been in service since 2004, it appears that it may be undergoing a series of upgrades intended to increase its accuracy and reach. "The upgrades will include better range capabilities and increased strike accuracy," according to the CSIS report, "which may imply an upgrade of the complex guidance system used by the DF-21D to compensate for short-range obstacles and more demanding target engagements." The report goes on to argue that, "[g]iven the DF-21D's medium range, the system's proximity to the US and its sophisticated guidance system, which may involve new technologies and techniques, make it a much more threatening capability to the US than the H/Ku-band P-15 or S-

Van Helsing is a 2004 American action-adventure supernatural film directed by Stephen Sommers and starring Hugh Jackman, Kate Beckinsale and Anthony Hopkins. Its screenplay was written by John Logan. Plot synopsis: Count Dracula (or Vlad Tepes, as he is named in the film) is a vampire who finds an ancient orb in a cave, a celestial object that can activate a mystical device. The device destroys much of Russia, and Vlad Tepes is turned into a vampire by the destruction. His daughter, who was bitten by him, is taken to a castle where he will protect her from the sun for a hundred years. On a visit to Transylvania, Countess Anna discovers Dracula is raising women to be vampires as his wives. She enlists the help of her ex-fiance, Van Helsing. The two travel to the castle to try and stop Dracula from being reborn, but the countess is bitten by him while she is there. It is revealed that Van Helsing and Dracula are long-time enemies.
