We are the Virtual Instruments team of Kontakt and Native Instrument. Our instruments and music sets are available in Kontakt Player, for all major DAWs and platforms. The Kontakt environment, including Kontakt Player, is open source and free to download and use at no cost. So how did our instruments get started? Well, we started off as a Native Instruments team. We just loved working with the software and the hardware of NI. We wanted to create a multisampled instrument with a unique acoustic layer and a powerful FX. All of this blended together using the best workflow and technology of NI. We even borrowed NI's technology for our physical modeling simulation, which gives you nearlive quality synth sounds. Why are our instruments free? Our instrument are open source and open to any kind of arrangement of instruments. We want it to be as easy as it can be, so we support both software instruments as well as hardware based instruments. This way, you can play instruments with effects and do your arrangements all in your favorite software.
