These files will be useful to you if .ROM or .HW files obtained from official sources do not match your device model, or you want to perform more complex procedures than software developers usually offer. All source codes for these binaries are available at <http://code.google.com/android/repos/tags/android-developers-info/images/> . To use these binaries, simply extract them to a folder of your choice and run the ./bin/ file, no root required.
