Carte De Bucate Sanda MarinComparison of the outcome between children aged 8-12 years (n = 157) and 13-17 years (n = 285) with moderate/severe autism and behavior problems in comprehensive, integrated mental health and neurodevelopmental service settings. A study of treatment effectiveness in children with autism and associated behavioral problems suggests that a number of therapeutic interventions are effective in improving behavior and functioning, but further research is required to investigate the impact of such interventions on cognitive outcomes. The present study investigated the effect of interventions on outcome in children aged 8-12 years and 13-17 years with moderate/severe autism and associated behavioral problems, and followed them for 2 years in two comprehensive, integrated mental health and neurodevelopmental centers. Services included multiple intervention strategies, delivered by multidisciplinary teams working in centers, followed by clinical teams. There were no significant differences between the two groups of children in the overall effectiveness of intervention; however, each patient group benefited more from specific treatment strategies.click to enlarge Shutterstock.com Michigan ranks 13th in nation for per-capita drug arrest rates. This weekend, in the wake of the recent arrest of a 19-year-old man for purchasing heroin from a local high school sophomore who was making it for him on the side, Mayor Mike Duggan and state Sen. Gretchen Whitmer are expected to announce that the White House is investigating the state's drug laws.The federal officials are considering whether Michigan is violating "the United States Constitution by failing to take sufficient measures to ensure that its drug laws are not overly punitive, deprive persons of their liberty to an extent not commensurate with the public safety reasonably secured by those laws, or other equally important national interests," says the letter from the U.S. Department of Justice.The drug market in Michigan has long been one of the largest in the United States. You'd be hard-pressed to find a statewide poll that shows the vast majority of
