What's New in the?

If your computer crash, you may lose emails, settings (hints, favorites, etc), pop-up notifications. This is really frustrating especially when you're using multiple Windows Live Mail Accounts. Windows Live Mail can backup your emails, settings, pop-up notifications to a file. This not only keeps your emails, but also saves the pop-up notifications, hints and favorites list so when the application is re-installed, you get all the emails and some personal settings back. You can also manually re-import the backup to the Windows Live Mail and setup a schedule for recurring backup. You can also encrypt the backup with a password, which is great for security, especially if you are transferring the backup to a remote server. Why do you need this program? Users can take their Windows Live Mail backup files to a backup drive or backup site in order to have a secure backup of Windows Live Mail profiles (for example, when installing a clean Windows Live Mail Profile, the previous ones may not be available for importation).
