. The program updates metadata within the selected folder. Update Cyrillic and Arabic ( Balkan Alphabets ) to Latins transliteration. Automatically selects the folder and subfolder with files of the same name and modified since the last run
Creation of the folders if the folder itself is missing Include all subfolders Option to create folders with different names. For example - "YYYY-MM-DD-HH-MM-SS" Once created, they will automatically be renamed. File verification is not completed during the update. If you wish to do a final check, make sure all files are selected before the program is executed. .
Recommended runtime parameters: - Maximal number of files that one file can contain in one update - Number of files in one folder update - Maximal number of folders that one folder can contain in one update . How to use: Select the folder and uncheck subfolders. Select Files Only: ( - to start the job ) Select folders only: ( - to end the job ) . You are not required to use all of these options. Depending on the length of your update, the time interval will vary. After the job starts, there is a progress indicator, which shows the percentage of the job's work done so far. . Options for selection of files or folders: Select files only: ( - to start the job ) Select folders only: ( - to end the job ) Select All Files: (- to start the job ) Select All Folders: (- to end the job ) . The program will process only the specified files or folders. If the program encounters a file that is in use by another application, it will ask to close that application before processing it. If the application is closed, it can be re-opened, without any problems. It is possible to select a set of selected files or folders in the folder where the program is installed and thus the program will not ask to close applications when starting. The program will create the corresponding folders if they are not there and will rename the selected files and folders before processing. It is possible to create folders with different names. If you want to create folders with the same names, the program will change the file name to the folder name. . Files and folders are selected according to their
