It provides you with three ways to catalog your multimedia items: offline, online and cloud. CD Catalog Expert also has online and offline environments for managing multimedia items, such as movies, music and photos. When you create, edit or sort data in the offline environment, the information will be stored locally on your computer's hard drive, while the online environment will permanently send information directly to the web service so that it can be shared with other people or accessed from any computer. Then, in the My Manager section, you can view all the items and edit their attributes (e.g., search for a particular file using its name, description, artist, album, genre and year of release, among other attributes) and then sort your items into one or more folders. Tools allows you to edit the tag information of your multimedia files, customize the appearance of your Library's interface, as well as send an email message or log the action that you performed for your catalog. In Help, you can quickly get the help you need. Lastly, in
