

The film is a biographical film about a real character, Kunjali Marakkar, who is considered one of the greatest naval commanders to this day. At the beginning of the 21st century, thanks to the world government and the political elite, his life reached its peak. Munda Banu, a Shiite Talvinist forced to become a rebel caliph. At the beginning of the 20th century, he was the youngest and most talented officer in the Pakistan Navy. He managed to get into the ranks of the organization "Muslim Brotherhood", "Brothers of the Koran", the organization of Al-Quds (assistants of the Prophet). At the very beginning, he established himself as a strong and intelligent warrior, supported by members of the organization and supported by his confessor. He began to raid the lands of Kashmir and once even defeated the troops of the British government. However, after the death of Mukhtar Aguda Khan, the military conflict was terminated, and the officer was sent to study in England. During his training, he received training in new methods of warfare and became a martial artist. After completing his studies, he returned home and joined the Pakistan Air Force, where he worked under Nawaz Sharif himself, one of the first military mentors. After the independent Muslim state of Pakistan was established in February 1971, the officer took a sharp turn, left his family and decided to become a guerrilla to fight the infidels. He has been called one of Pakistan's most prominent military commanders and a true hero. Nabokov knew Kunjal Marukar and his family well, as he helped him to the best of his ability. Currently, when the Vassals of the World have seized power on Earth, Kunjal Marukara's father and son are hiding from them in the countryside, taking their younger brother Vasil with them. Immediately after the end of the war, he was sent to England to study at the military engineering institute. During his studies, he encountered such talents as Wing Chun and heavy jiu-jitsu. In order to obtain the rank of officer, he continues his studies in this field. Thanks to his teacher, he was one of the few officers who had experience of martial arts training in Russia during the reign of Nicholas II. Although at present in England Kunjal Marukar cannot be given the right to own weapons, he nevertheless continues to do so.
