Related Keywords: WYSIWYG,MPP,XLSX, In this study, the genetic divergence times and geological ages of 15 C₄ lineages were estimated to clarify the evolutionary history of C₄ photosynthesis in Panicum species. The results suggested that C₄ photosynthesis originated several times within the genus Panicum during the early diversification of grasses. However, there were only four Panicum species that recently evolved C₄ photosynthesis from non-C₄ C₄ lineages. While the C₄ content has been maintained in the six Panicum species. This study, therefore, shows the importance of Panicum species as useful model species for molecular evolutionary studies of C₄ photosynthesis. Conclusion ===== In this study, rbcL, ndhF, trnL-F and rpl32 gene sequences were used to reconstruct phylogenetic relationships and estimate divergence times of 15 C₄ lineages of the genus Panicum. The analyses revealed the origin of C₄ photosynthesis in the genus Panicum in the early Late Cretaceous (Albian and Cenomanian, ca. 132--100 Ma). C₄ photosynthesis has been maintained in six Panicum species but was lost in two species and the evolution of C₄ was affected by long branch attraction. Author Contributions ===== BW conducted the molecular experiments, assisted with the analyses, and wrote the first draft of the paper. J-mX conducted most of the analyses, and contributed substantially to the writing of the paper. D-zL conducted the most of the analyses, and contributed substantially to the writing of the paper.
