Directory Opus

Directory Opus is a Windows file manager designed to replace Windows Explorer in terms of both functionality and interface. The tool also offers a sophisticated list view to help you explore your folders and organize the data. The application is packed with numerous advanced features that are bound to make your life easier. You can, for instance, enable the thumbnails to see a preview of the file without opening it. The tool will also check your system for changes, so you can easily revert to an older version if needed. The application supports additional languages including Romanian, Vietnamese, German, Italian, Spanish, Polish, Portuguese, Turkish, French, Chinese, Russian, Thai, Korean and Japanese. Panda VPN enables you to access any server around the world and keep your data safe and secure by using 256-bit encryption. The application was developed by a team of security experts and VPN specialists who have extensive experience with high-end security products.

Key Features

Access your favorite servers around the globe. VPNs in general can be used for private purposes but the reality is that they have mostly been used for illegal activities, such as illegal downloads or torrenting. You can use Panda VPN to access the servers you want and use the VPN functionality to keep your browsing private. High-performance encryption. Panda VPN uses the latest encryption algorithms, which guarantee the highest level of security, making the VPN suitable for both public and private usage. This means that you can access any server with a 128-bit, 256-bit or 512-bit encryption. Access a wide range of servers. There are more than 9000 servers available. You can select the one you prefer from the list that is provided with the application and use the VPN to connect to it. Stay safe. Panda VPN includes robust parental controls, so you can set your settings in the parent control panel to make sure your kids do not access the applications. You can also use the application to block specific sites, including those that you consider to be unsafe, so your kids will not have any access to them. Panda Cleaner enables you to scan your computer for viruses and unwanted software to speed up your PC. The application can remove older applications, such as unwanted browsers, games, tools, or other software.

Key Features

Get rid of unwanted applications. Since Panda Cleaner does not detect all the application installations on your computer, it may not find all the applications installed on your system. To make sure you find everything,
