A mother has been freed without charge in the death of her 19-month-old son following a serious police collision on Sydney's north shore. The infant, Tegan Simpson, died after police conducted a series of speed and road safety checks on the highly-travelled Harbord Rd at Lakemba on Saturday evening. Tegan Simpson had his head flattened in a police collision (ABC News: Danielle Bonica) Sydney North West Area Command's highway patrol unit, the SPS, said the death was reported to them at 4.30pm. A 20-year-old man was arrested and remains in custody, without charge, to answer to the NSW coroner. He was discharged from hospital on Sunday. A third person was treated for non-life threatening injuries. Officers gave the child's mother, described as a casual worker, a "comforting hug" and left. "She'd suffered a fair bit of grief and she'll have a very long road to recovery," Commander Jeremy Mullen said. "It's very difficult for any family to deal with this sort of tragedy. "We would like to recognise that one of our patrol members who had stopped to check on the child, was knocked to the ground." He said the officer had no memory of the crash. "With the investigation, we're talking to several eyewitnesses at the scene, and speaking to the mother to see what happened that night," he said. Tegan Simpson had his head flattened in the crash and was not wearing a seatbelt. A 19-month-old died after police slammed him into a tree at Lakemba on Saturday. (Supplied: NSW Police) Tegan was transported by Paramedics NSW to Royal North Shore Hospital where he was treated and released. Meanwhile, police said another person involved in the collision appeared to have been intoxicated. Both vehicles remain at the scene. Tegan's stepfather, who lives next door to the family, said the children lived in the family home with their mother. "A very sad day," he said. "The kids have been taken to school, she's been taken to hospital and just started to get herself together."Last updated on.From the section Football Kyle Walker was substituted after he was caught 1cb139a0ed
