

EAGLE will load the specified file and execute the command as if it were typed ..... If your license does not include the Schematic Module, object type ... Unlike the previous model, in this new model to change the object type information you must run a command that displays all available objects within a given type, not just those defined in the .obj file. As a result, for each object you can find out the details that you can change. For each object type, there are two sets of commands that you can use to change the object type. These two options are:
