If you are running one of the latest versions of Mailsmith with "Print and Reply To Email..." and you would like to add a signature, you can use a KeyMACRO. The KeyMACRO is an email message template which allows you to append a special KEY= line at the end of each email message. This special line is always on a "NEWLINE" character, which means it will be right at the end of the email. For example: Bob the Butler [Bob@butlershouse.com] Dear Bob: This is the family law case of the week. If you want a free copy, just go to: www.butlershouse.com/familylaw And check out our new family legal directory.

You can order a free copy from there. Bob the Butler [Bob@butlershouse.com] (Here is a special KEY= line: KEY=NEWLINE) This week's family law legal news: 1. She v. He 2. Husband v. wife (about details of property division) 3. Husband v. wife (about details of property division) 4. Husband v. wife (about details of property division) 5. Wife v. Husband (dissolution of marriage) 6. Wife v. Husband (dissolution of marriage) 7. Husband v. wife (details of property division) 8. Husband v. wife (details of property division) 9. Wife v. Husband (details of property division) 10. Husband v. wife (details of property division) Bob the Butler -- KeyMACROs on the web ----- To sign-off this list, send email to majordomo@hortonworks.com with the message text UNSUBSCRIBE SIG-OFF or visit Bash - Vim grep duplicates output from grep I'm using Bash and Vim. I have the following code, but I see duplicate output and grep returning 2 lines instead of one: find. -maxdepth 1 -type f -name 1d6a3396d6
