Various challenges are presented with LLNs, such as lossy links, low bandwidth, low quality transceivers, battery operation, low memory and/or processing capability, etc. The challenging nature of many IoT networks is exacerbated by the lack of a unified supporting architecture that can easily be expanded to meet the most general/all possible case needs. Many IoT applications require a very simple connection between disparate devices. For example, an elderly patient may be tracking a number of things, such as health conditions, medications, or other parameters. The number of disparate devices in such an application may range anywhere from a few dozen to a few thousand. There is a need to easily incorporate additional devices into the system, by adding additional pairs of devices, with minimal effort and complexity.. First, the main effect of anxiety on the extinction learning process was evidenced by the results of a three-way interaction among group, time, and emotion at the P3 time window, which displayed a significant main effect of time during the extinction session (P3: F~(1,15)~ = 4.823, p = 0.044, p~corr~ = 0.034; P1: F~(1,15)~ = 6.126, p = 0.025, p~corr~ = 0.032) and a significant main effect of emotion (P3: F~(1,15)~ = 5.846, p = 0.028, p~corr~ = 0.038; P1: F~(1,15)~ = 7.127, p = 0.019, p~corr~ = 0.038
