Landmark Congress Party leader, Shibu Soren, on Saturday said the Congress-led UDF government will be defeated in the Lok Sabha elections in Karnataka, which are scheduled to be held early next year. "I am not saying it in a reckless manner. I know the contest in Karnataka will be very close, but the Congress-led UDF government in Karnataka will be defeated in the Lok Sabha elections, the results will be declared on May 24," Soren told reporters here. The Congress Karnataka unit, the party's youth wing, and several other groups have planned a "Janatha Chetu Karna Paani" campaign in the state ahead of the Lok Sabha elections. Soren's comments assume significance after the recently-concluded Assembly polls in the state. While the Congress, led by former Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, came to power in the state with a majority of 31 seats, the BJP, which was in power for a decade, failed to win even a single seat. Soren's comments assume significance as some of the party's leaders have begun to hold talks with the BJP to form a composite government in the state. The Congress has already declared Nelamangala MLA T B Jayachandra as its chief ministerial candidate, while former Chief Minister and state Urban Development Minister D K Shivakumar is set to be the Janata Dal (Secular) candidate. After the announcement of the state election schedule by the Election Commission, the BJP, which has been demanding a trust vote in the Assembly to prove majority, is likely to move the Supreme Court to stall the elections in the state. The Assembly polls had also pitted the Congress against the BJP, with both the parties contesting 40 seats each. The Congress won 31 seats, while the BJP got 14. The JD(S) could win only seven seats. The Congress also faced a big blow when former state party chief DK Shivakumar was arrested by the Income Tax Department on money laundering charges. In a recently-held Karnataka Rakshana Vedika conference, Soren said the Congress would fight the elections to save democracy in the state. The invention relates to a device for the shaping and breaking of pipeline sections which can be changed between manual operation and automatic operation at the beginning and end of each working operation respectively, in which the pipeline sections after passage through the shaping and breaking device are in a suspended position in such a manner that they
