The benefits of this.[The therapeutic efficacy of a new broad-spectrum antibiotic in complicated infections]. A new semisynthetic broad-spectrum cephalosporin, PIP-1, was used in an open, prospective, comparative trial in the treatment of 114 patients with complicated infections. The following were the clinical and bacteriological effects: clinical effect in 96%, microbiological effect in 92%, superinfections in 57.1%, relapses in 7.1%, and mortality in 3.5%. The results obtained with PIP-1 confirm its efficacy in the treatment of complicated infections.Clinicopathological features and prognosis of renal cell carcinoma with leukocyte activation. The objective of this study was to clarify the clinicopathological characteristics and prognosis of patients with renal cell carcinoma (RCC) accompanied by leukocyte activation. We searched for the presence of macrophages in the tumor stroma by staining for the monocyte/macrophage marker CD68 or for the macrophage-associated antigen HLA-DR in 102 patients with RCC. The patients were classified into 3 groups according to the presence or absence of macrophages. These groups were compared for age, sex, tumor size, Ki-67 labeling index (LI), and tumor stage. The distribution of the grade of activation showed significant differences among the 3 groups. Group 2 had higher Ki-67 LI (P = 0.01), tumor stage (P = 0.04), and a higher percentage of patients with distant metastasis than groups 1 and 3 (P = 0.01 and P
