You will be able to see the full-resolution file. The thumbnail is a smaller version of the file, so it is not the same as the full-resolution file. Q: What's the difference between a list of dictionaries and an array of dictionaries? If I have an array of dictionaries `my_dict = [{"name": "name1", "age": 32, "country": "usa"}, {"name": "name2", "age": 34, "country": "usa"}]` and a list of dictionaries `my_dict_list = [{"name": "name1", "age": 32, "country": "usa"}, {"name": "name2", "age": 34, "country": "usa"}]` When should I use one over the other? A: List of dictionaries is Immutable Array of dictionaries is Mutable This means that if you change one item of a list, all other items change with it. But with an Array of dictionaries, you can change a item and not change others. For example `my_dict = [{"name": "name1", "age": 32, "country": "usa"}, {"name": "name2", "age": 34, "country": "usa"}]` `my_dict[1]['name'] = 'changed_name'` # some time later `my_dict = [{"name": "changed_name", "age": 32, "country": "usa"}, {"name": "name2", "age": 34, "country": "usa"}]` # `changed_name` is not in the list. # Because we changed the item 'name' in 'my_dict[1]' For this reason you cannot change a list of dictionaries with a single operation. With an Array you can, with a list you can't. More here :

Thank you in advance!CAIRO (AP) — Egypt on Tuesday lifted a nighttime curfew imposed after deadly clashes with anti-government protesters, several hours after demonstrators threatened to boycott the vote that brought President Hosni Mubarak to power 34 years ago. The evening curfew was lifted after most of the city center was cleared of protesters, and the streets were calm, Associated Press journalists said. Earlier, a crowd made up mostly of young men had occupied Tahrir Square, the epicenter of the protests, and were ignoring calls by authorities to leave. Fourteen people were killed in Thursday's violence and 658 were injured, according to the latest tally released by the Health Ministry. The overnight curfew was lifted to give security forces more freedom to deploy throughout Cairo, and troops were starting to remove protesters in some areas, Egypt's official news agency Mena reported. The Cabinet issued a statement saying that the curfew "is to be considered as being in effect with a limited time period for a limited number of days in order to protect public security and to preserve the public peace." The move came two days after riot police in full gear attacked protesters and used tear gas to disperse them after some of them tried to storm a local security headquarters. Organizers of the anti-government protests over the last two weeks had scheduled a general strike for Tuesday, but the vast majority of protesters stayed in the streets, a sign that they are not willing to return to the streets after all the violence. By late afternoon, many were in the square chanting anti-government slogans. But at least
